FROM YOUR COMMODORE

Patrick Hedges

There's a long time understanding that the leader of an organization shouldn't expect those under him or her to do something he or she wouldn't be willing to do. That said, Galley Chief Brett Cross and yours truly set out on a recent Saturday (Feb 18) to see how Day Sailers really do handle white caps, strong currents and winds gusting to 29 knots and more (according to a credible YC member watching from her moored boat).

With such ideal conditions, we decided that we would practice a capsizing-recovery drill somewhere between buoy 10 and day marker 12. Now, in all honesty, we didn't make this decision until the mast of "Doin' Time" was somewhere south of 45 degrees of vertical and heading toward 90 degrees off vertical, or, from my vantage point, laying on the water.

Now, I must admit, I have had little experience in these types of recovery drills. The one time prior was during a club-sanctioned event and I hasten to point out this current drill was conducted during a non-sanctioned club activity.

Unlike the captain of the cruise ship that went on the rocks in Italy recently, I stayed with the boat. In fact, based on my limited experience with these types of maneuvers, I went in the water. But I knew what I had to do and I immediately swam around to the exposed hull side of "Doin' Time" so I could clamber up on to the centerboard and begin the righting procedure. You cannot imagine my surprise when I saw the centerboard ahead of me and there was the galley chief already standing on it. With more than a little bit of disbelief, I noted that galley chief Brett had nary a drop of water on him.

Apparently as he was calling out "Oh, No!" he was scrambling over the high side of the gunwale and landed on the centerboard. You tell me who has the most experience in this type of situation.

Anyway, with both of us putting weight on the centerboard, we were able to right the boat and lower the main and jib. A small lesson learned at this point is that the required 5-gallon bailing bucket, if not tethered to the boat, may float away (and it did). Left with only the small one-gallon scoop, it was going to be a long process.

Unbeknownst to us, member Carlton Smith was at the club and was concerned because of the conditions on the water and he was keeping an eye out for us. Unaware that the galley chief and I were practicing righting procedures, he, along with Port Captain Kevin and prospective member Warner headed out in the Whaler to see what was going on.

Now, at this point, seeing us riding low in the water and suspecting that we may have encountered an unscheduled sailing maneuver, you would have thought that they would have approached our boat and asked if we were OK. You would have been mistaken. The port captain backed off and began taking photographs. Then, after he had taken a more-than-sufficient number of images, "Doin' Time" was towed to the dock for de-watering.

So, you may ask, why do I share this with you. First, training and experience pays off. To lay your boat on its side and be able to come out of that standing on the centerboard, dry, is no small feat. My hat's off to the galley chief for this fine display of seamanship. Secondly, with images in the hand of the port captain, Photo Shop is working overtime, no doubt. So, since I get the first page of the Masthead, I have this opportunity to put out the real story with an unretouched image of the commodore and the galley chief showing that recovery of a Day Sailer can be accomplished by the crew on board.

It has been a very busy couple of weeks, collecting cost estimates for several possible projects. Besides the normal housekeeping duties such as replacing light bulbs and tightening toilet seats, the oven in the galley required the assistance of a professional repair man. As it turns out, the Wolf range in the galley is probably older than the repairman from Idlers. The stove was purchased used when the club was built, but in spite of the stove's age, parts are still available, and you can imagine they are not cheap. The control valve for the larger oven is being temperamental and will need to be replaced at some point with an estimate of over $800. Just for your information, a new Wolf stove would cost $12,000 to $14,000. So it goes without saying, we need to treat the stove with lots of love and respect.

As we prepare for Opening Day 2012 there are several projects around the club that need to be done. It would be great if these projects could be completed before the scheduled WORK DAY, Saturday MARCH 10th, so we can concentrate on general clean up then. I received only one response to my "request for help" that was sent on Monday Feb 20th via the club alias.

So, once again I have listed some of the projects on my list. If there are other items that are of interest to you just let me know and I will help with equipment and/or other helpers. The idea is to get some of this work done BEFORE the scheduled workday.

* Galley cleaning. Brett Cross is looking for four (4) helpers to clean and organize the galley. If this is something you might be interested in give Brett a call. His cell number is (805) 234-1570.

* Pressure-wash the walkways around the club

* Fix loose boards on the lower and upper deck

* Sand and paint the top cap on the deck railing

* Weed around the club

* Paint the safety stripe on the steps

* Paint dinghy and member zones on the dock

* CLEAN the tables and chairs upstairs and down stairs

* Polish trophies and clean the case

* CLEAN windows (we have lots of windows)

It time to get started cleaning and making need repairs to OUR club house.

FUN FLOAT

Fun Float MAR. 7th. Wed. 10:30 AM

Good turnout for Feb.Float. We had either 12 or 13 people. According to who was counting. Remember these people vote. In March we are going on the 8th at 10:00. I had to avoid the Ides of March.

You remember what happened to Caesar on his way to McDonald's for breakfast.

Love ya'll

FROM YOUR REAR COMMODORE

Dawn Huntsinger

You can't often accuse Morro Bay of having boring weather, especially at the beginning of the year. The Bay fleet held Winter III in some mighty strange winds. The morning held some promise of strong winds, but by the time the first race started, the winds died down leaving boats stranded in the back bay. It reminded me of a parking lot; we all wanted to go somewhere but instead just looked at each other in frustration as we floated as a clump with the current. I'm speaking, of course, as a boat in the back of the fleet...obviously some fared better than others. The next race was totally different with the winds swirling at the top of the bay. It was one of those days where you go to tack, but instead you just turn 90 degrees and find yourself on the same tack! Fun or frustrating? A little bit of both... but mostly fun! The Ocean fleet was able to make it out for their first race of the year. Winter II was held on a beautiful day with strong and steady winds. Crewmembers on Guayacan remarked that they were able to keep Voyager II in sight! Even though Voyager II completed the course in less than two hours, Guayacan's corrected time gave them first place.

A big thanks to all who volunteered to PRO the races. Ocean fleet John Michener is still looking for a replacement, but in the meantime will continue to set the courses for Ocean fleet. Tom Murphey, Tom and Cyndy Fee, Gail Condon and Kevin Williams were our trusty PROs for the Winter series. Pat and Dot Rygh, Joe Huntsinger, Katy Crawford, and Linda McDonald are excellent additions to the Race Committee; the races couldn't be run without all of their help.

Congratulations to these winners:

Playing by the Rules: 42 Propulsion

42.1 Basic Rule

Except when permitted in rule 42.3 or 45, a boat shall compete by using only the wind and water to increase, maintain or decrease her speed. Her crew may adjust the trim of sails and hull, and perform other acts of seamanship, but shall not otherwise move their bodies to propel the boat.

42.2 Prohibited Actions

Except when permitted in rule 42.3 or 45, a boat shall compete by using only the wind and water to increase, maintain or decrease her speed. Her crew may adjust the trim of sails and hull, and perform other acts of seamanship, but shall not otherwise move their bodies to propel the boat.

- (1) body movement,
- (2) repeated adjustment of the sails or centerboard, or
- (3) steering;
- (c) ooching: sudden forward body movement, stopped abruptly;
- (d) sculling: repeated movement of the helm that is either forceful or that propels the boat forward or prevents her from moving astern;
- (e) repeated tacks or gybes unrelated to changes in the wind or to tactical considerations.

Go sail a boat,

Dawn Huntsinger
Rear Commodore

FROM YOUR OCEAN FLEET CAPTAIN

To those who participated - what a great day! To those who didn't - condolences.

The four intrepids were at the dock ready for the first (completed) race for 2012; it was worth the wait. Geronimo, Voyager II, WhizBang, and Guayacan had a great time in excellent sailing conditions in Estero Bay. Expecting fair wind, the course was: Start, 18EB, Mouse and Constantine, Finish. We all, even the lumbering schooner, could lay the course to Mouse Rock. Mouse to Constantine Rock was more upwind but it is only 1.8 miles. The last leg was downwind. The total course was 12.28 miles and elapsed time varied by 27 minutes. A fairly constant wind 15 knots and a long period for the swell without windwaves contributed to a great day; sunshine was the cherry on the sundae.

I repeat - it was a fun sail. We hope to see more of you and your friends next month.

MBYC Social Committee

Here we are turning the corner into SPRING! Our second (annual?) ST. PADDY'S DAY PARTY is now in full swing and we are taking reservations since we can only accommodate 40 people for dinner. All members are welcome to the fun upstairs! Our caterer this year is Gary Barker of Divine Street Catering. Gary is well known around the county for his corned beef, pistachio cake and award winning shrimp and avocado ceviche! Please read the flyer included for more details in making your reservations. Duncan and a few of our brave male members will be providing a little entertainment, along with Irish Music. I challenge those attending to find a "little rhyme" to recite and we will give a small prize to the most creative!

Opening Day this year is on April 15th! I know...tax day!!! Oh well, the celebration must go on...so plan accordingly! Commodore Hedges requested the return of the White Caps, our unofficial city band. They will play on the tarmac with around 25 musicians. Which brings me to my next topic .... food for Opening Day! I would so appreciate a call or an email informing me of what food item you will provide. It needs to be bite-size finger food. Deviled eggs are especially popular. Fruit, such as strawberries, grapes or chunks of pineapple or melon, is always a good choice. Muffins, donuts or danish are easily served. We have a tea and coffee area where desserts like fudge, brownies, cookies or choclotaes will be served. When you bring your item, please have it displayed on a glass, silver or decorated dish. I will need helpers to keep the food tables filled, bartenders, members at the door to check-in guests and the all mighty clean-up crew. It is a wonderful event steeped in tradition but can only run smoothly with the help of everyone.

I have a new email address; sbufo@att.net. My home phone is 534-1614 and my cell # is 748-3861. Please contact me! Let's have some fun, people!!!

Sharon Bufo

EXTRA! EXTRA!

Two of our memberships have resigned. They are Dennis Johnson/Anne Bernardo and Mary and Al Romero. Any changes I have received are in the new roster due out shortly, but, since I am so special (according to me), my e-mail has changed to gailcondon@aol.com .

Thanks.

MEMBERSHIP

Okay, now we're cooking. We have TWO prospective members whose applications are hanging on the office door. Please take the time to look at them. They are: Katherine (Katy) Crawford who has been at almost all of our Bay Fleet races and helped, both on deck and in the safety boat, since last summer, and is an avid sailor herself, having been employed on a commercial fishing boat in the past. She also is a now familiar face at Friday night Happy Hour. The second application is from Anthony (Tony) Gomez who has been very active in our Ocean Fleet with his boat, Geronimo. He also has been a well-respected business owner in SLO for many years.

The membership cards are ready for everyone who has paid their current year's dues. We will have them on Friday nights for you to pick up and will mail out the rest to those we don't see in the next few weeks. The roster will be out shortly and we'll send any cards not picked up with them.

Your Membership Committee: Gail Condon, Cyndy Fee, Lynn Meissen,
Rachelle and Jim Phillips and Marty and Tom Tidyman.

Morro Bay Junior Yacht Club

We have only had one Juniors day since the last Masthead, but we had a great weather day and a lot of fun. It took a while for the wind to build so we practiced our knots with a little rope rodeo, tying adults to the deck railing. Later the Lasers got to chase Lex, in his role as rabbit, while the Opties played ball tag and follow the leader. More fun is planned for our next Juniors days as we prepare the Optimist fleet to participate in the upcoming Big Rock Regatta, March 24th and 25th. The event is part of the Harken series of Optimist regattas and young sailors from all over California will be on hand to participate. There will be two separate courses, one for experienced racers and one for beginners. Every Optimist sailor from MBYC should plan on racing, and every Junior should plan on spending some time to help host the event. Also the Junior's work day is Sunday March 4th where we will help spruce up the club and the boats (and maybe have some fun too).

Big news for our Laser sailors this month too. The Board approved spending some of the money in our Juniors Boat Fund and Juniors accounts to replace some of the Lasers in the rack with newer hulls that are rigged with current blocks and cleats. We are keeping our eyes open for two Lasers ready to use, preferably with radial rigs. We will be selling the older boats cheap if anyone wants to take on a project.

Our Juniors have been sailing away from the Morro Bay this past month. Laser sailors Olivia, Keiran, and Tristan participated in the San Luis Yacht Club races at Lopez lake. Keiran and Tristan raced in full rigs which worked out fine in the first light wind race. When the wind picked up they were a bit over powered. Keiran said he lost track of how many times he was in the lake. Opti sailors Andrew, Audrey, Nathan, and Dylan took their boats down to Long Beach. The report is that the winds were very strong on Saturday and that Nathan got a good close look at the bottom of his Opti. Sunday the conditions were ideal and everyone had a great day. Congratulations to Dylan and Nathan for participating in their first ever Opti races, which were out of town. Kudos to Rory McClish for spending his weekend as MBYC's green fleet Opti coach.
