Dave Hensinger, Commodore

Snowbirds and HaHa

As a transplant from the east coast (Pennsylvania) I have noticed that one of the East's characteristic fauna, the Snow Bird, is lacking on the edge of the Pacific. The greatest concentration of Snow Birds is of course in Florida during the winter, but they can be found in the higher latitudes during the summer and then in transit during the spring and fall. Filling a similar niche in the Pacific ecosystem is the Baja Ha Ha participant. Our dock and moorings will be very popular with these transients during the coming month.

They have varying levels of experience and many of them are visiting Morro Bay for the first time. They joined the HaHa in part as an entry to the boating community. We can help them feel welcome. Our port Captain, Lynn Meissen, her daily assistants, and our members have built an excellent reputation for hospitality.

Hosting transients benefits the club in two ways. First, the revenues from transients offsets our costs. Second, the terms of our lease require us to provide accommodations to visiting recreational boats. Our annual report of transient nights to the city is an important part in our lease negotiations. So, during this busy season, please leave as much room on the dock for transients as possible and let's make our paying guests feel welcome.

October is Loaded with Sailing Events

Now that the summer vacation season is over, we can get down to the serious business of having fun on the water. October has a racing event almost every weekend. The city of Morro Bay's Harbor Festival occurs on the first weekend in October and on Saturday, the sixth, the Harbor Festival cup is contested by the Daysailer Fleet. The following day the ocean fleet contests their Fall I race. The Chris Lockwood Regatta, on the second weekend in October, provides a friendly introduction to racing for new junior members. The Bay Fleet's Fall II and the Ocean Fleet's Devlin II are on the third weekend in October.

Commodore's Ball November 10th

The 2018 Commodore's Ball will be held at Windows on the Water. The food will be great, the setting beautiful, and the atmosphere relaxed. Last year's ball provided some really unexpected entertainment. If you weren't there, you missed Marilyn Monroe jumping out of a cake and singing Happy Birthday to You for Brett Cross. This year, Justin Bradshaw has agreed to serve as MC. Justin carries a SAG card and after serving as MC for Opening Day he was open to a role with more lines. Music will be provided by jazz pianist/organist/trumpeter Caleb Hensinger. He's played Boston. He's played China. Now he will play Morro Bay. The club's getting a bargain as he is playing as a favor to the Commodore.

Lighted Boat Parade

When I was short enough to walk under tables, I never understood why big people complained about the holiday season. All kinds of fun and wonderful things just seemed to happen. Well, now I have a different perspective on those festivities, and the work that goes into them. The Lighted Boat Parade is not until the first week in December, but the board has begun considering the issues of overcrowding during that evening. This year, the board has voted to set a limit of five guests per membership. As always, members must be present to host their guests. Adult children of members are counted as guests. The occupancy limit of the club will also be enforced. There will be additional planning and organization for the lighted boat parade in the coming months.

Lynn Meissen , Transient Boats

October has come and many more transient boats will be stopping at MBYC for a day or two before continuing south ultimately to Mexico. Please watch their activity and emphasize the need to tie up very close so the maximum number can dock and rafting is mandatory though inconvenient. We ask our members to postpone dock use if possible and give way to our guests. (We do get considerable financial benefit from them and it is a requirement for our water lease.)

Joe Huntsinger, Vice Commodore

Summer has come to an end, and Halloween will be upon us soon. I'm going to be Joe for Halloween. What are you going to be?

I was at the club earlier today when I noticed a couple of sailors having a tough time docking their boat, so I ran down to give them a hand. The gal was holding a bow line on a cleat and the guy was at the helm. I instructed her to loosen the line so that I could secure the stern line. After a couple of minutes of trying to get them in, it wasn't going well, and I just couldn't figure out what their problem was. So, we decided to come up with a better game plan. That's when I realized that they were trying to leave the dock and not trying to tie up to the dock. At that point it became much easier to send them on their way. We had a good laugh and I wished them happy sailing. I'm glad that they didn't know who I was, but just in case, I'll keep my eye open for an article in Latitude 38!

I would now like to report that Werner Weinstock has completed and installed the vice next to the work shed, and Orris Cowgill has been working on a design for the Ship's Store. The red ducting has been removed, drywall and texture has been completed, and the store has been painted. We have cleaned the hoist motor and installed a catch basin under the motor and gear. A new cover is being manufactured to cover the motor and protect it from the weather.

The club is still having a problem with dogs not being on their leash and we continue to discover dog doo around the club. There have been a couple of new rules that the board has passed, such as all dogs must be attended and, on a leash, and dogs are no longer allowed on the upper deck. There have been several complaints as dogs are tied to the railing and creating a trip hazard because the leash is stretched across the deck. You will notice new signs around the club to remind members and alert transients of the House Rules. So, let's remember to treat the club and its members with respect and keep the dogs outside, downstairs, on a leash, and use those MuttMitts that can be found on the tarmac.

On a lighter note, I would like to thank Candy Botich for faithfully cleaning the bar, washing the glasses, and washing the galley towels each week.

There will be a work day to paint the upstairs interior on Saturday, October 27 at 9:00 am. I am looking for six volunteers. Please contact me at mbyc.veep@gmail.com if you can make it.

Please control your pets!

Good to know!

Policy Letter # 23 Clean Marina Policy (excerpts)

Introduction: The Clean Marinas program is a partnership of private marina owners, government marina operators and yacht clubs. It was developed to provide clean facilities to the boating community and protect waterways from pollution through compliance of best management practices.

Topside Boat Maintenance and Cleaning

Perform only small maintenance jobs on the dock or mooring. A variety of boat cleaners, such as detergents, teak cleaners and fiberglass polishers can contribute to pollution and nutrients entering the water, their use should be minimized and is discouraged. Every effort must be made to prevent solvents, paints, varnishes and any other maintenance waste material from entering the water.

Hoist motor has been cleaned and a motor cover

Tom Tidyman, Membership News

The Membership Committee met September 7th to hear the presentation of prospective new members Jeremiah and Shelley Blackwell of Los Osos. Their sponsors are David Hensinger and Chris Surfleet. After discussing their relationship with the Blackwell's and answering the Committee's questions satisfactorily, the committee voted to present their application to the Board October 18th. Their application will be on the office door so members can review it. Members please seek them out and introduce yourselves. They have four boys and are very active in the junior fleet. They own a Sabot.

On another matter past commodore Donna Arizona requested to be made a Life member.

Dot Rygh, Your Grand Poo Mah, Fun Float

Sand spit clean-up in 1998. A lot of trash on the spit and we filled up our dumpster that year. Compared to this year with hardly any trash picked up.

Several of our fun floaters turned out for the sand spit cleanup on September 8, and all were very happy to have found very little trash on the spit. Hopefully, people are more and more aware of taking care of their own trash and keeping our beaches clean. Pam and John Ridgely even crossed the spit and did some of the ocean side beach and found very little trash. All good news and thank you all for your effort.

Everyone is always welcome and our two fun floats for October are;

Lynn Meissen, Cruise to San Simeon

The cruise to San Simeon was inspiring. 5 boats made the trip: Janina, Slider, Pearl, Faraway, and Guayacan. Sailing north was unremarkable to nonexistent on Saturday. Guayacan shut down the engine for a mere 45 minutes at the approach to San Simeon Bay. But the forecast was better for Sunday and we had hope for sailing on Sunday. Saturday evening when anchored, John Dilworth inflated his skiff not knowing that he would become the water taxi. First he rowed around the bay for fun, then came to Guayacan to socialize. Faraway was skiffless, so he went to pick up Werner and Lora (in two trips by the way). That done, Janina showed up, also skiffless, so off he went to pick them up. Two more round trips. Lastly, Slider slid in and dropped anchor. Again John set aside his glass and went off for the crew. This time he did surrender the oars to others for a couple trips. Thanks, John.

We enjoyed a barbecue dinner and several bottles of wine. John's skiff, with others sharing the oars, served the group by ferrying them back to their boats.

Sunday's return to Morro Bay only allowed the most determined to sail; the rest mostly relied on the iron genny.

Chris Surfleet, MBYC Juniors

The pun never ends with junior sailing.....

With summer sailing finishing the junior sailing ranks have shore gotten big. In September we saw our Optimist fleet filled to the gills with sailors. Not to mention some excited and helpful parents, new members on the horizon, yelled the look out. We hope schooner rather than later. Water a bunch of swell admirals.

Here we are in October, the most exciting month of the year for junior sailing! It is time for the Chris Lockwood Junior Regatta. Don and Kit Lockwood will be hosting the annual event, so mark your calendars for Sunday, October 14, 2018. Come on out and cheer our junior sailing club to a fun day. If you stay long enough you might even get to sample the traditional Root Beer Floats.

In September the young sailors put to the task of getting used to boat handling and an introduction to racing. A special thanks to coach Dana McClish for working with the Optimist sailors. Kit and Don Lockwood ran practice starts from the dock prepping the kids for the Regatta. Charlie Roberts assisted with boat set up and dock duties. All and all a really fun month of sailing.

Have I mentioned the new junior sailing shed lately? Buoy are we really appreciative. It seems we have a place for everything. But more than that we have your donations to the Morro Bay Youth Sailing Foundation MBYSF) to thank for part of the materials. At the September Yacht Club board meeting the MBYSF presented the yacht club with a check for $2200 to pay for the materials for the junior sailing portion of the new sheds. Watch for the new signs promoting both MBYSF and Cal Poly Sailing on the shed, supported again by MBYSF (www.mbysf.org).

Cal Poly has started back to classes, so you know what that means. The Cal Poly collegiate sailing club will begin again. The docks will be busy with young sailors. Be sure to give them a warm Morro Bay welcome.

That's all for now, hope to see you soon and don't be nauti. Oh and a word of advice, don't play cards when the captain is standing on the deck.

Owen Blackwell keeping the rig tight in high winds. Owen and his family Jeremiah, Shelly, Elias, and Miles will soon be new Yacht Club members

Laser sailors, Cole and Aiden, zipping around in the summer breezes

Line up Optimist sailors; It is picture time

Dana and the gang

Rachelle Phillips, Wendy Mitchell is Poster Winner

Congratulations to Wendy Mitchell, whose painting won this year's contest for the 2018 Harbor Festival poster.

Way to go Wendy!!

Harbor Festival is October 6 on the Embarcadero.

Marlene McQueen , The Last Burger Feed of the Year

It was such a nice afternoon! The tomatoes and onions were cut, the condiments and salads were ready. Duncan and Freddie set up the tables and Judi prepared the grill for the buns. We were all set to feed the multitudes.

Everything went so well. I collected the money, Char filled the orders, and Judi kept the galley running smooth as a well oiled machine.

Suddenly I said to Char, "It's feeling very warm in here. Oh my!, I'm getting dizzy. Oh! I need to sit down". That was the last thing I remember, until I awoke with this handsome young paramedic looking into my eyes and asking my name. Then I looked up to see Stanley looking back at me and cradling my head gently in his wonderful strong arms.

I still don't know why it happened, but it couldn't have happened in a better place. I am just fine and thank all who helped and for all the good wishes.

Especially, thank you Judi for all those great Wednesday dinners. How fortunate we are to be members of The Morro Bay Yacht Club.

Love you all!

Kendall Welch & John Burgener, The Land Yacht

With no rhyme or reasoning in mind, but just an excuse to "just go."

We set sail and beat hard to weather on the expansive open road for the Great Northwest Territory of this here U.S.A...

Our first camp stop where we set our hook was Win-River Casino in Redding, Ca. for shore power and they gave us a complimentary $15 voucher for the slots. Of course, my navigator and tactician, Kendall, quickly scuttled her duties and went ashore to throw weight with the arm bandit and 2 bells, later coming back with $152... "Ho Hum"

she said and "Yes I am Good."

Next stop with fair sailing was Coos Bay Oregon... Oh my – tell tail signs of Martha Washington clams with their sweet tender pink meat... Tis low tide so off we go in search for the perfect spot on the muddy flats... I start digging a hole with little luck and then Kendall notices the reset button on my forehead and presses it, and I turn into "The Human Trencher."

Then the clams start popping up like popcorn and she was a giggling like a little girl at Christmas...She is so easy....lol...

Yes – Clams for dinner steamed with white wine, garlic, butter olive oil spices and more wine with salad... Ok – this story can go on but print is expensive....Sowe made our way to the San Juan Islands with easy sailing and no storms...

Ferrying about the islands was easy and we dropped our anchor for a visit with friends on Lopez Island for a few days. They have a Cessna 182, so of course, we flew about the islands and saw where the Salmon fleet were working, crab traps were set and the many coves for safe anchorage in the future....

Then off to Orcas Island where we went to The Orcas Island Yacht club and met very nice people and their simple way of life....

28 day trip, 3100 miles, great food, no flat tires, met new friends, visited old friends, 2 weddings and memories to reminisce about....

Judi Forster, Ahoy from the Galley!

I wanted to say thank you so much for everyone who came out for our summer Burger Nights and especially the many hands that helped make it a success. We had many themes this summer, from Pirates, Luau's, and even a Club Birthday Party! I especially would like to thank my Galley Slaves who took over (or kicked me out) when my schedule did not allow me to be there as Chief. A Huge Thank You to Duncan and Marlene, who were so sad to see the Burger Nights end, postponed my send off serenade until Friday's Happy Hour! I have loved being MBYC Galley Chief these last two years and you all made it so much fun!

Happy Hour Hosts:

Paper plates, napkins, and utensils are stored in the lower cabinets marked "Happy Hour". If you choose to provide your own, please store the extras in the other lower cabinets or take them with you. If there are any questions, please feel free to email or call me. Thank you again!

Andrea Surfleet, Remembering Chris Lockwood reprised from 2015

The Chris Lockwood Junior Regatta, on Sunday, October 14, will surely be a fun and exciting day. There will be new sailors who have never raced and older Juniors who might compete with a new class of boat. It'll be a special day for Don and Kit Lockwood, one close to their hearts. In 2012, the annual regatta was renamed in honor of their son, Chris, who died suddenly of a heart attack at age 49, on February 4, 2011. With their memories of Chris and his childhood love of sailing, they'll be on hand to cheer the young sailors, help serve Root Beer Floats, and present the awards.

"Sailing can take you anywhere," Kit likes to say. She certainly saw this with Chris who grew up sailing in the yacht club, which they joined in 1971. He began at age 8 with an El Toro and went on to race Lasers, Lidos and their Rhodes 33. As he grew up, he brought home trophies from Lake Woollemes and the High

Sierra Regatta on Huntington Lake, one of his favorite events of the summer. He loved studying animals, especially reptiles and birds, and excelled at many things such as Scrabble, wrestling and motorcycle racing.

Chris was a natural sailor and read books to increase his talent, penning notes in his sailing books for himself and his sailing students. When he was 20, in 1982, he was the first MBYC member hired to teach Summer Sailing. He served as Commodore of the MBYC Junior Club that year when there were ninety children of yacht club members! In the Masthead, he was thanked for his service and for coaching the Morro Bay Missiles, perhaps a Laser group that met during the school year.

He taught Summer Sailing for three summers and raced FJs with the Cal Poly Sailing Team, yet still found time to earn a degree in Mechanical Engineering. In 1986, he campaigned his Laser and travelled to national events, such as the North American Laser Championships during the World's Fair in Vancouver B.C.

As he sailed into adulthood, he settled in the Bay Area and competed in boats large and small, often visiting new lands. The adventure of family began with wife Laurie and their children, Logan and Chloe, now 15 and 11, who live in Santa Cruz.

The Lockwood children will be on hand again this year helping their grandparents, Don and Kit Lockwood, for what's certainly going to be an exciting and extra-special day for all!
